

Whistle-Blower / Code of Conduct

In keeping with the policy of maintaining the highest standards of conduct and ethics, the KIDS IN NEED FOUNDATION will investigate any suspected fraudulent or dishonest use or misuse of the Kids In Need Foundation's resources or property by staff, Board members, consultants or volunteers. The Kids In Need Foundation is committed to maintaining the highest standards of conduct and ethical behavior and promotes a working environment that values respect, fairness, and integrity. All staff, Board members, and volunteers shall act with honesty, integrity, and openness in all their dealings as representatives for the organization. Failure to follow these standards will result in disciplinary action, including possible termination of employment, dismissal from one's Board or volunteer duties, and possible civil or criminal prosecution if warranted.

Staff, Board members, consultants and volunteers are encouraged to report suspected fraudulent or dishonest conduct (i.e., to act as "whistle-blower"), pursuant to the procedures set forth below.

Reporting

A person's concerns about possible fraudulent or dishonest use or misuse of resources or property should be reported to his or her supervisor or, if suspected by a volunteer, to the staff member supporting the volunteer's work. If for any reason a person finds it difficult to report his or her concerns to a supervisor or staff member supporting the volunteer's work, the person may report the concerns directly to the chair of the Kids In Need Foundation Board of Trustees, vice chair of the Kids In Need Foundation, treasurer or secretary of the Kids In Need Foundation Board of Trustees, or the executive director. Alternately, to facilitate reporting of suspected violations where the reporter wishes to remain anonymous, a written statement may be submitted to one of the individuals listed above.

Rights and Responsibilities

Supervisors

Supervisors are required to report suspected fraudulent or dishonest conduct to the executive director, chair of the Board of Trustees, vice chair of the Board of Trustees, secretary of the Board of Trustees, or treasurer of the Board of Trustees.

Reasonable care should be taken in dealing with suspected misconduct to avoid:

- baseless allegations;
- premature notice to persons suspected of misconduct/disclosure of suspected misconduct to others not involved with the investigation; and
- violations of a person's rights under law

Due to the important yet sensitive nature of the suspected violations, effective professional follow-up is critical. Supervisors, while appropriately concerned about "getting to the bottom" of such issues, should not in any circumstances perform any investigative or other follow up steps on their own. Accordingly, a supervisor who becomes aware of suspected misconduct:

- should not contact the person suspected to further investigate the matter or demand restitution.
- should not discuss the case with attorneys, the media, or anyone other than the executive director, chair, vice chair, secretary, or treasurer of the Board of Trustees.
- should not report the case to an authorized law enforcement officer without first discussing the case with the executive director, chair, vice chair, secretary, or treasurer of the Board of Trustees.

Investigation

All relevant matters, including suspected but unproved matters, will be reviewed and analyzed, with documentation of the receipt, retention, investigation and treatment of the complaint. Appropriate corrective action will be taken, if necessary, and findings will be communicated back to the reporting person and his or her supervisor. Investigations may warrant investigation by an independent person such as auditors/attorneys.

Whistle-Blower Protection

The Kids In Need Foundation will protect whistle-blowers as defined below.

- The Kids In Need Foundation will use its best efforts to protect whistle-blowers against retaliation. Whistle-blowing complaints will be handled with sensitivity, discretion, and confidentiality to the extent allowed by the circumstances and the law. Generally this means that whistle-blower complaints will only be shared with those who have a need to know so that the Kids In Need Foundation can conduct an effective investigation, determine what action to take based on the results of any such investigation, and in appropriate cases, with law enforcement personnel. (Should disciplinary or legal action be taken against a person or persons as a result of a whistle-blower complaint, such persons may also have right to know the identity of the whistle-blower.)

- Employees, consultants and volunteers of the Kids In Need Foundation may not retaliate against a whistle-blower for informing management about an activity which that person believes to be fraudulent or dishonest with the intent or effect of adversely affecting the terms or conditions of the whistle-blower's employment, including but not limited to, threats of physical harm, loss of job, punitive work assignments, or impact on salary or fees. Whistle-blowers who believe that they have been retaliated against may file a written complaint with the executive director, chair, vice chair, secretary, or treasurer of the Board of Trustees. Any complaint of retaliation will be promptly investigated and appropriate corrective measures taken if allegations of retaliation are substantiated. This protection from retaliation is not intended to prohibit supervisors from taking action, including disciplinary action, in the usual scope of their duties and based on valid performance-related factors.

- Whistle-blowers must be cautious to avoid baseless allegations (as described earlier in the definitions section of this policy).
